Man admits sex attack on girl, 12

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MIDDLE-AGED man has admitted a sex attack on a 12-year-old girl, which sparked off a major manhunt in Haverhill and left his victim traumatised.

Michael Collyer, 36, admitted sexual assault by penetration in Haverhill last July, when he appeared before Ipswich Crown Court this week.

His case was adjourned for sentence until August, so that psychiatric reports can be prepared. Collyer, of Hundon Place, Haverhill, had been due to go on trial for the offence, but changed his plea to guilty when he appeared at a preliminary hearing. He has been in custody since he was arrested in late August last year.

Three other child-related charges, including a sex assault on a second young girl and child pornography allegations, were allowed to lay on file. Judge John Devaux remanded Collyer in custody until he is sentenced, which will be as soon as possible after August 3.

Police cordoned off a section of the well-used old Railway Walk footpath through the centre of Haverhill after the daylight attack at around 1.50pm on July 24 last year.

"We look forward to working with the people of the Haverhill area to make the website something of which we can all feel proud."

More hours in the day to play!

YOUNGSTERS will be able to have hours more fun now that a play centre has received funding for more free care for them.

Staff at the Cartwheels Children's Centre in Greenfields Way, Haverhill, are celebrating receiving extra government funding, which means they can now offer parents 15 hours of free childcare instead of 12-and-a-half hours from September.

Sandra Bird, manager at the centre, said they were very pleased with the change, which would be welcomed by parents who wanted their children to spend more time there.

She said: "We have quite a few children with special education needs and we have experienced staff who work with children with a range of disabilities. This will be especially welcomed by them and their parents."

The nursery caters for 24 pre-school children per session, aged from 3 to 5 years, and some funded places are available.

The centre also offers care for babies and toddlers from birth to three years, as well as breakfast club and after school care. For more, information ring (01440) 710655.

Happy days: staff Donna Edwards and Amy Allard with children at the centre, which is now funded for longer hours.

Watch out for bogus mobility aid salesmen

SUFFOLK Police and Trading Standards officers are warning people to be on their guard for companies that target the vulnerable by cold-calling to sell mobility equipment. These calls are often followed by a personal visit from a salesperson, who uses hard-sell techniques to persuade the customer to buy mobility aids that they might not want. For further advice or anyone who feels that they might be a victim of this type of sales technique, should contact Suffolk Trading Standards on 0845 4040506.

Missing man found in Norfolk resort

A 54-YEAR-OLD man, who went missing from Haverhill on June 4, has been found safe and well. Alan Brown was found in Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk, on Thursday, after police had become concerned for his welfare and issued an appeal for information. Police would like to thank the public for their help.

Daihatsu driven off of driveway

A GREY Daihatsu Fourtrak vehicle, registration L945FAN, was stolen from a driveway at St Margarets Place, Stradishall, between 9pm and 11.30pm on Monday, June 15. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Christopher Spraggons at Clare police on (01284) 774100.

Drink-drive court date for Essex motorist

AN Essex man has been charged with drink-driving after police stopped a car on the A1307 in Haverhill early on Saturday morning. Mark Robinson, 30, of Brook Street, Great Bardfield, is due before Bury St Edmunds magistrates on July 2.

Conservatory window is smashed at home

A CONSERVATORY window was smashed at a house in Osprey Road, Haverhill, at around 6pm last Thursday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Victoria Anthistle at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100.

SALVATION Army volunteers have organised a petition to have their charity shop re-opened amid fears that their whole church group could collapse.

Claire Grossman has managed the Salvation Army shop at Gloucester Road, Haverhill, for the past three-and-a-half years with a team of eight volunteers, but was horrified to learn late last week that she was to be made redundant and the shop is to close next Thursday.

Claire also runs a day centre each Monday for 40 elderly people, mainly in their 80s, at the Salvation Army Hall in Chantry Road, Haverhill, and she fears that the hall and adjoining church building could also be under threat of closure.

So far, 40 people have signed a petition against the shop closure and Claire says the congregation at the church has dwindled from around 30 people to just three since new Captain Jonathan Wylie took over last year.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Claire claimed Captain Wylie had told her that the shop was not making enough money. She also claimed he had dumped most of the shop's stock in a skip not long after he arrived.

Claire said: "We are going to hold a garage sale on Saturday to sell off the remaining stock and hold a closing down sale in the shop. It has taken me a year to build up the stock again and it is not just a shop, it is a place for people to meet."

"I have been opening the shop up for two extra days a week for nothing to keep it open because I think there is a need for it. There is a recession on and people are using charity shops more than ever."

"A lot of older people come here who don't see anyone from week to week."

"The playgroup moved elsewhere and he has shut down the youth club and the fellowship – we are worried that the whole thing could close down."

Captain Wylie declined to comment but a statement from the Salvation Army said no other changes were planned other than the closure of the shop.

It said: "After a series of consultations, in which we have considered the needs of the local community as well as the rising cost of continuing to operate the service, a decision has been taken to close our charity shop in Haverhill."

"We are confident that shoppers will still be able to obtain the items they require locally."

"We are currently conducting a community survey to see how the Salvation Army may best serve the people and communities in Haverhill."

"Aside from the charity shop, no other aspect of our work or mission in the area is under threat."

Town bucks national trend

HAVERHILL is bucking the national trend and continuing to expand despite the recession, according to the local chamber of commerce.

Chairman Sarah Howard told the annual general meeting of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce and Industry that though trading conditions were tough in the town, existing businesses were continuing to grow and new ones opening.

She said: "It has been a very busy year and I have been meeting with the Suffolk Development Agency, who are very interested in what is going on in Haverhill."

"Haverhill seems to be bucking the trend, there is still development going on here and new jobs coming. Haverhill is one of their most requested sites for information. There have been redundancies, of course, but overall, the signs are encouraging."

"We are working with the Newmarket Business Association, which is going to join the Suffolk Chamber, as well as the Bury Chamber of Commerce."

"We want to attract businesses and get more people involved."

'Please return my daughter's phone'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SINGLE mum whose autistic daughter lost her mobile phone during a visit to a fair is appealing for help in getting it back.

Savannah Hanlon, 11, was enjoying her first-ever outing without her mum Wendy when she visited the fair at Haverhill Recreation Ground last Thursday.

Her mobile phone was in her back pocket, but when she returned to her home in Queensway, Haverhill, she discovered it was gone.

Mum Wendy wants to appeal to anyone who finds the phone to return it to her daughter.

Wendy said: "It was her first mobile phone that she got as a present at Christmas, it is in perfect condition, as she really looked after it well."

"That phone was her lifeline, she has autism, is extremely vulnerable, has limited social and life skills, so needs a phone to call for help should she need it."

"Also because of her condition and lack of ability to relate to people, she gets really attached to objects, so losing her phone is like losing a much-loved pet to someone else, she is distraught."

"She is 11 and has only recently started going out with her friends occasionally. She needs all the chances she can get in learning social skills and the best way she can do this is by going out with her friends and experiencing life."

"She is unable to do this without her phone, as I need to keep in constant contact with her to make sure she is OK."

Call back: Savannah Hanlon, 11, who has autism, lost her mobile phone last week. Her mum has called on anyone who finds it to return her "lifeline".

Picture: Richard Patterson 568959.

"I know for sure that someone has picked it up, as I rang it as soon as she realised it was lost."

"To begin with it was ringing, but half-an-hour later, it was going straight to answerphone, meaning it had been switched off. It can't have run out of battery, as it was put on charge before she went to the fair."

"I can't afford to buy her a new one straight off, as I can only work part-time because of my daughter's condition. Also, I am a single mother with a mortgage and bills to pay, with only my wage coming in."

"Please could someone listen to their conscience and hand it in or post it through the Weekly News letterbox when the office is closed."

"It is only a £60 phone, nothing flash, it won't work for anyone else, as I have had a block put on it, but to my daughter it was her lifeline and to me a lot of money to lose."

"It is a Nokia 5310, black with pink on the sides of the screen and was in a pink case with a picture of a cat on the front."

Anyone who has information about the phone should ring (01440) 703891.

Girl dragged into bushes by man

The girl and a friend had passed a man sitting on a bench near Dovehouse Road and continued to walk towards Arrendene Road, before the same man walked past them as they approached the bridge near Water's Edge.

One girl managed to run off, but Collyer grabbed the 12-year-old, who is now 13, and dragged her into bushes, where he carried out the assault.

Suffolk Police mounted a manhunt and put the case in the hands of its major investigation team. The force set up a mobile police station in the area after the attack to reassure residents and staged a reconstruction to help track down the attacker. Officers spoke to around 100 people before they tracked down Collyer.

The attack was described in court as "opportunistic" and lasted less than a minute. At the time, Detective Inspector Martin Wright described the girls as being "extremely traumatised".

The pair were offered specialist counselling to help them deal with the effects of the incident.

False accuser gets suspended sentence

AFTER his attempt to buy drugs went wrong, a Haverhill man falsely accused two others of robbery, a court has heard.

Marco Santos, 33, gave police descriptions of his two alleged robbers and even picked one out during an identity parade. But Ipswich Crown Court was told that his claims were lies, which resulted in two innocent men being held in police custody for more than seven hours.

Santos, of Bute Court, was caught out when police reviewed CCTV pictures from the area where he had said the robbery took place, but officers could find no trace.

Judge David Goodin said that the false robbery allegation had led to the waste of 41 hours of police time and the offence "comfortably" crossed the custody threshold.

However, after reading a pre-sentence report prepared by the Probation Service, the judge said he was prepared to suspend the eight-month jail term he was imposing for two years.

Kate Stephenson, prosecuting, said that after several re-runs of the CCTV recording, Santos finally admitted that he had made up the story.

He said he had been trying to get back money which he had handed over to a man who then left without giving Santos the cannabis he wanted.

Santos, who is Portuguese, pleaded guilty to an offence of attempting to pervert the course of justice by making a false statement to police. He claimed that the robbery had taken place between March 3 and March 11.

After admitting that the robbery report had been false, Santos was arrested and searched, said Miss Stephenson, resulting in him being found in possession of cannabis, for which he received an official caution.

Christopher Morgan, mitigating, said that Santos lacked good personal and problem solving skills, but was not a persistent offender.

Santos maintained that he had been involved in a failed attempt with one of the men arrested to buy cannabis.

Mr Morgan said: "He felt he had a legitimate grievance. It is a serious offence because of the taking into custody of two individuals, one who may have had nothing to do with it."

Santos was also ordered to complete 200 hours of unpaid community work and pay £713 toward prosecution costs.

Judge Goodin told him: "This was a disgraceful episode in which two people, innocent of the untruthful allegations you made against them, were detained."

Santos was warned by Judge Goodin that failure to comply with the sentence passed or the committing of further offences during the time the jail term was suspended was likely to result in him being sent immediately to prison.

Surf on in to joint summer fayre

TWO schools will be joining forces for a summer fayre with a Hawaiian theme on Sunday. The event will be held at Castle Hill School in School Lane, Haverhill, from 10am to 2pm, with staff and pupils from Burton End Primary School also helping to provide the fun.

There will be face painting and tattoos, plants, crafts, charity stalls, refreshments, stalls, sumo suits and Gladiators, a bouncy castle, a penalty shoot-out and a fire engine on site.

Private seller pitches are available for 20 per cent of total profit and can be booked in advance at £5 at either school.

There will also be a fancy dress competition at noon, a dog competition at 12.30pm and wacky races at 1pm.

Arrests after cars are damaged

FIVE men have been arrested on suspicion of causing criminal damage to vehicles in the Castle Lane area of Haverhill on Sunday morning.

A 20-year-old from the Haverhill area, an 18-year-old, 19-year-old and two 20-year-olds all from Haverhill, have all been released on police bail, to return to the town's police station on July 22.

School benches are scratched by vandals

THREE benches at a school in School Lane, Haverhill, were scratched and damaged between 6pm on Monday, June 17 and 7am the following day.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Maria Allgood at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100.

Generous lady: Suan Noy Argent from Westfield School, Haverhill, during a visit to a school in Thailand.

School caretaker's journey of kindness

A KINDHEARTED school caretaker is organising a car boot sale as part of a fundraising campaign to help a school with few resources in Thailand, her home country.

Suan Noy Argent lives at the caretaker's bungalow at Westfield Primary School in Manor Road, Haverhill, after coming to England to get married 25 years ago.

When she returned to Thailand last year, Suan visited a mountain school, where her cousin works as a teacher and took along provisions and equipment. Now she is raising more cash, with support from staff and pupils at Westfield, and hopes to send another £500 to the school.

The car boot sale will be held at Westfield School on Sunday, July 12, from 8am to 1pm, with pitches at £5. Proceeds are going to the Ban Klong Daeng School, which is about a four-hour drive away from Suan's former home in Thailand.

Suan said: "The children had no play equipment – we took them cookers, water coolers, books and sweets. They need everything. Where they live in the mountains they have nothing and it is quite heart-rending.

"The children here have everything and do not appreciate it, but there, you take one football and their faces light up. The school has already been very supportive, they had a Christmas play and raised £85. I have already got about £200 and I would like to raise £500."

Club to get back in the swim

A CLUB which has produced some top national swimmers is hoping to attract plenty of new members when its home pool re-opens for business early next month.

The pool at Haverhill is due to re-open on July 4, along with the rest of the leisure centre, which has been closed for a year for a £5.2 million refurbishment.

West Suffolk Swimming Club, which includes the former Haverhill

Hurricanes, has been without a base there during the work and has operated from Bury St Edmunds pool. Previously, its members were unable to use the Bury pool when Bury Leisure Centre had to be re-built after a fire.

Chairman Kevin Profitt said despite the fact that it had been very hard to operate over the past five years, the club was still managing to produce top class competitive swimmers in European and international events and would like to welcome many more to its ranks.

Last weekend in Germany, Stefanie Biller, from Haverhill, qualified for the 10k race at the world championships in Rome in July and is still waiting to hear if she also qualified for the 25k event.

Stefanie, 23, is the girlfriend of Alan Bircher, another Haverhill swimmer, who competes in Open Water events at the sport's top level.

Mr Profitt said: "We have had a difficult time, but when the pool opens, we need to recruit more members. We are a very successful club and we have swimmers like Alan Bircher and Dan Pilbrow, who are devoting their time to coaching others.

"We want to get this club back to its former glory and get the whole community behind us. We would like to encourage local businesses to sponsor some of our swimmers."

Anyone who is interested in joining the club can get more information at Haverhill Leisure Centre or ring (01440) 786786.

Trio seen by cash machine

CASH machines were tampered with at a bank in High Street, Haverhill, earlier this month and police have issued CCTV images of three people they want to speak to.

Three suspicious people were seen by the ATMs between 8pm and 9pm last Wednesday.

The first is described as male, white, in his 20s, with short dark hair and sideburns and was wearing a light brown jacket and faded jeans. The second is described as male, white, in his 20s and was wearing a dark-coloured jacket with white piping, a multi-coloured cap and a dark coloured T-shirt.

The third is described as female, white, in her 20s, of slim build, with long brown hair and was wearing a long black coat, jeans with turn-ups and dark-coloured shoes. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Carl Brandwood at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Banned for two years

A WOMAN who admitted drink-driving when she appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court has been banned from driving for two years.

Elizabeth Vasquez, 43, of Teasel Close, Haverhill, admitted the offence at the magistrates' court last week.

Police stopped her car on the A1062 at Stoke-by-Clare on the evening of Thursday, June 4.

She was also fined £450, and ordered to pay a £15 victim surcharge and £60 costs.

Beautiful blonde: Alice Weir, 8, is giving up her hair to be used as wigs for cancer sufferers.

Picture: Richard Patterson 568980.

Kindest cut for Alice, 8

AN EIGHT-YEAR-OLD schoolgirl is sacrificing her beautiful long hair so that she can donate it to make wigs for children who have lost theirs because of chemotherapy treatment for cancer.

Alice Weir has measured her flowing locks at 20 inches, but after next Monday, she will see a collar-length bob when she looks in the mirror.

As well as donating her hair to The Little Princess Trust, Alice, of Seymour Drive, Haverhill, already has £100 in sponsorship money promised to her and is hoping to raise at least £50 more.

Her proud mum, Zoe, said the idea arose after her mother's goddaughter, who lives in America, came for a visit and told Alice how she and her mother both deliberately grow their hair long then have it cut to donate to the charity.

Alice had already decided she would like her hair cut, but decided to do a good turn for charity at the same time.

Mrs Weir said: "I am proud of her. When she heard what my goddaughter was doing, she decided she wanted to do it too. Her aunt, Debbie Lee, runs the salon at Samuel Ward Upper School, so she is having it cut there.

"I will be sad to see it go, as she has lovely hair, but it will make life easier as every morning it is an absolute chore at the moment. Because it is so long, it tangles up quickly and she goes to gymnastic club at Bury twice a week.

"It is a nightmare because if she tries to do backward rolls, her hair gets in the way! It will be a good thing when it is shorter and doing some good for someone else."

Alice, a pupil at Place Farm Primary School, said she had not yet decided whether she would grow her hair long again. She said: "I have always had it long, but I decided I wanted it cut for a change. When I heard what Megan did I thought I would do the same because it was a good thing to do."

Sponsorship forms are available at the Weekly News office in Queen Street, Kim's clothing shop at the top of Haverhill High Street or the hair salon at Samuel Ward.

Couple escape blaze

A COUPLE managed to escape from a blazing house in the early hours of Wednesday morning and police are treating the incident as arson with intent to endanger life.

Suffolk Police are appealing for information about the fire at Snowdon Court, Haverhill, at around 3.25am, when fire crews were called to reports of a fire at the front of the property, which has caused significant damage. The occupants, a man and a woman, suffered smoke inhalation, but were not seriously hurt.

Police want to hear from anyone who may have seen any suspicious persons or vehicles in the area of Snowdon Court overnight.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to DS Stuart Jeans at Haverhill CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Still time to register for Moonlight Walk

THERE is still time to join in a cancer charity's first Moonlight Walk in Bury St Edmunds on Saturday, July 11.

The route of five miles will be through the town and men, women and children are invited to register to take part to support the Marie Curie Nurses work in Suffolk.

Currently, 38 nurses are working in the county to allow patients with cancer and other terminal illnesses to be nursed in their own homes. Every £20 raised pays for another hour of nursing.

The registration fee is £10, to include a free T-shirt and on completion, a certificate of achievement. Participants are encouraged to dress up in outfits that will make the walk an evening of fun.

For a registration form contact Marie Curie Cancer Care on (01284) 747385 or email angela.bussey@mariecurie.org.uk.

Rewards: dancers from the school show off their certificates.

CP

Dancers in the groove with stunning exam success

DANCERS at the Lisa Mason School of Dance were rewarded last weekend for their hard work, which again produced a 100 per cent success rate in their latest exams.

Students took their BATD examinations in the ballet, modern and tap disciplines in May.

The examiner described the dancers as being "very polite and well groomed with a good standard of work shown".

The school celebrated a 100 per cent pass rate in all examinations, with many children and adult dancers each taking two or three exams and achieving very high grades in each of the dance disciplines.

Lisa Mason presented the certificates and medals at the school on Saturday.

She said: "I am delighted with the examination results and progress the dancers are making. It is only right that they receive recognition for all their hard work.

"We are now all looking forward to more exams in July and preparing for our main stage show in December."

Dance classes take place on Saturday mornings in ballet, modern, tap and acrobatics, along with a First Steps class for pre-school children.

As well as children's classes, the school also runs adult classes.

Lisa has also extended her London Line Dance club to Haverhill, which she says is an excellent way to keep fit.

For more information on the dance school or line dance classes call Lisa on (01440) 760821 or visit www.lisamason.co.uk

Light up at special fun day

Haverhill's Recreation Ground will be awash with flashing lights as police, fire, ambulance and other groups gather for a Blues and Twos Emergency Services Day.

The event will take place at the ground in Camps Road on Saturday, July 18 from 10am to 4pm.

There will be live arena displays including fire fighting, with police cars, fire engines and ambulances on site.

There will also be a military vehicle display, a chance to meet the Army and learn CPR, as well as meet police dogs and see them in action.

Suffolk Lowland search and rescue group will attend and there will also be a chance to meet local voluntary groups. Refreshments will also be on offer.

Everyone is invited to go along and join the action.

Now it's your turn to pedal!

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A BUSINESSMAN who cycled more than 900 miles in nine days despite having a sore foot is now organising a 50-mile challenge for his staff.

Robert Haylock decided to join a party of 12 men on a Lands End to John O'Groats cycle tour to celebrate his 50th birthday.

The ride covered a route of 930 miles, an average of 103.33 miles per day, with the longest day's ride being 127 miles from Cheddar Gorge to Shrewsbury.

Now Robert's 11 staff at Machine Part Engineering in Haverhill are having to keep their side of the bargain, after promising to train for a 50-mile circular ride themselves if he completed his ride.

They will be raising money for alterations to the home of Alfie Long, from Kedington, who suffers from severe disabilities, with a ride from noon on Friday July 17, starting and finishing at the Barnardiston Arms pub in Kedington.

Robert said of his ride: "Not much sleep, lots of pain, rain, hail, strong winds, freezing cold, snow on the mountains and too many hills – apart from that, it was fun."

"I was planning to do the trip at the end of July after contacting a cycle tour company just before Easter for information. Two days later, they called offering me a cancellation, leaving in three weeks' time... panic!

"I had never done 100 miles a day before, so I said to the tour company I would have a go at doing 100 a day for four days over Easter and see how I felt."

"I did it, but pulled my right Achilles tendon – with only two-and-a-half weeks to the start, I was unsure it would heal in time."

"The tour company called me on the Tuesday following Easter Monday and needed a 'yes or no' from me as someone else wanted the place, so I said 'yes', with fingers crossed."

"I was helped by Christine Jefferys at Haverhill Osteopathic and Sports Injury Practice, who was very helpful and gave me acupuncture and ultrasound, which greatly improved the injury, but movement of the ankle still caused pain. Christine kept in touch with me by text over the nine days."

"I also discovered that if I pedalled with the foot flat and minimise flexing my ankle, it helped."

He added: "At the end of the day, I had to ice it, but thankfully it held out."

Anyone who wants to sponsor the group can contact robert@machinepartengineering.com, or call the office, or send a cheque made payable to Machinepart engineering Ltd, adding the word 'ALFIE' on the back of the envelope.

Cash raised at charity ball boosts local MND group

A GLAMOROUS ball helped boost the funds of a charity which supports Motor Neurone Disease sufferers and their families.

Friends and colleagues Tracy Payne and Linda Hilton from Haverhill decided back in 2008 to organise and run a black-tie ball to help out the local branch of the Motor Neurone Disease Association (MND) in Cambridgeshire and raise awareness of the crippling and incurable condition.

MND can affect anyone without warning and is very debilitating with loss of mobility, speech and the ability to eat.

They formed Fundraising Occasions and held their first charity event in April at Chilford Hall in Linton.

At the event, a presentation was given by Andrew Norton, of the Cambridgeshire branch, briefly outlining how MND can affect people and the support the branch offers.

Tracy and Linda were thrilled to present a cheque to the branch for £2,400 from the event at a recent meeting of the Cambs group.

Thank you: Tracy Payne, left, and Linda Hilton, right, of Fundraising Occasions, hand the cheque over to Andrew Norton of MND's Cambridgeshire branch. CP

Mr Norton said: "This magnificent gift will enable us to continue to do all we can to make the lives of people in Cambridgeshire with MND as comfortable and rewarding as possible."

"Our grateful thanks go to Tracy and Linda for their help and support and all the hard work they put in."

Get down and swap that frock!

ANYONE who fancies a new outfit, but whose money is a bit tight, can take advantage of a novel Frock Exchange on Friday.

The event will operate at the Clare Castle Country Park car park between 11am and 4pm.

To take part, simply take at least one item of clothing, shoes or jewellery and a maximum of 10 and swap 'til you drop!

Cardboard collection banks will collect end of life and damaged textiles for recycling. Recycling officers will be on hand with tips and advice on how to minimise household waste.

The event, part of Recycle Week activities being organised by the Suffolk Waste Partnership, will focus on textile recycling. Textiles make up three per cent of household waste and are worth an estimated £400m, not including the cost of sending them to landfill.

If you are unable to attend this event, but would like to sign up to 'waste less' during this Recycle Week, go to www.recyclenow.com

Hospice myths to be dispelled

A HOSPICE is out to dispel some myths and inviting everyone to find out what such a place is really like.

For the first time, St Nicholas Hospice Care is hosting a unique, one-day course, 'The Hospice Unwrapped', on Monday, July 6 and will attempt to remove some of the fear about terminal care.

The course, which is spread over a full day, will look at all aspects of hospice work, including explaining how the organisation fundraises and what it's really like to be a volunteer.

The full day costs £40 and includes a guided tour, refreshments and homemade lunch. All money raised will directly benefit the hospice.

Participants will hear firsthand about the work of the organisation from committed staff and volunteers and there will be plenty of opportunity to ask questions.

Head of education, Maddie Bass, said: "For too long now, the community has been scared of the idea of the hospice. We have decided to address this by inviting local people to step inside our doors and learn about who we are and what we do and meet some of our staff.

"People can see for themselves that the hospice is a place of love, life and laughter, as well as tears. The day will be relaxed, informative and good fun and we look forward to seeing you there."

Anyone interested in booking a place should call Rachel Brown, education co-ordinator, on (01284) 715591 or email rachel.brown@stnh.org.uk

Preparations are underway for annual summer show

VILLAGERS are getting ready to host hordes of visitors next month at their popular annual summer show.

The event at Ridgewell will take place on Saturday, July 11 from 1.30pm, at the village hall site in Drury Lane, with admission £1 for adults, while accompanied children go free.

Last year's show attracted more than 400 people and there is plenty of fun on offer for all the family this year.

PL Falconry will be at the show all afternoon, with fantastic birds including falcons, a vulture, owls, a hawk and an eagle.

Visitors can watch the birds in flight, then get up close and meet them with their handlers.

The popular tug-of-war contest returns, with teams from the Red Lion at Steeple Bumpstead and Saffron Walden Rugby Club competing.

There will also be Punch and Judy shows, children's magic and a free bouncy castle.

Ridgewell Garden Society is organising a Horticultural and Handicraft Show on the same day, with plants, produce and flowers on display, as well as home produce and children's classes.

Most of the produce is auctioned and entries from outside the village are welcome. Call (01440) 785909 for a schedule.

There will be a fun dog show, open to all breeds, with dogs not needing to be super trained and with a 'dog that looks most like its handler' class included. Registration is from 1.30pm.

Music will be provided by Long Melford Silver Band, with stalls, sideshows and refreshments. For more information call (01440) 785710.

Search is on for county's young unsung heroes

The search is on for Haverhill young people who give the younger generation a good name.

They could win a slice of £4,000 in prize money – donated by police and businesses in Suffolk and Norfolk – to reward young people from across the two counties who are positive role models and give to others.

The best young person from Suffolk and Norfolk will win £1,000 each. There will be a further £2,000 in prizes to be won. All the young winners must give away half their cash prizes.

Anglian Home Improvements Young People of the Year

(Yopey), which is also sponsored by Suffolk Police Authority and Suffolk Constabulary, aims to showcase the positive contribution youngsters make to our society.

Yopey was launched in Hertfordshire in 2005 and has since spread to seven other English counties and the whole of Scotland.

More than £70,000 has been won by young people in a movement Prime Minister Gordon Brown calls "a wonderful celebration of Britain's youth".

Contest organisers are looking for young people across Haverhill who give to their families or communities. Examples include young carers who look after relatives at home, role models at school who lead fundraising or sports, or youngsters who go out into the community to help run clubs and other youth organisations.

Yopey founder Tony Gearing said: "How would you feel if most of the stories you read about your generation were bad or people crossed the road to avoid you because of the way you dressed.

"And yet you have done nothing wrong. Yopey is a chance for all of us to put that injustice right."

Simon Ash, Chief Constable of Suffolk Constabulary, said: "Suffolk Constabulary is delighted to support Yopey.

"It is a fantastic way to help promote good citizenship, identifying and recognising young people in Suffolk who are making a real difference in their communities and who can be positive role models to help inspire others."

Congratulations: Prime Minister Gordon Brown recently welcomed winners of YoPeY competitions in other parts of the country to Downing Street. The contest has now been extended to cover Suffolk. CP

Gulshan Kayembe, chairman of Suffolk Police Authority, said: "We recognise that young people can sometimes be portrayed in a negative light and this is an excellent opportunity to help redress the balance."

Peter Mottershead, group chief executive at Anglian Home Improvements, said: "We are delighted to support YOPEY in Suffolk and Norfolk.

"The awards are a fantastic opportunity to both recognise and inspire young people making a difference in the places that they live."

Schools, youth organisations and proud parents in Haverhill and surrounding area are encouraged to nominate young people.

But young people can also nominate themselves or their friends. The contest will close to entries in October and an awards ceremony will be held at Suffolk Police headquarters in November.

■ To nominate a young person, who must be aged 10-25 and live, work or study in Suffolk or Norfolk, for Anglian Home Improvements Young People of the Year visit www.yopey.org or write to PO Box 103, Hare Street, Ware, SG9 0XD, enclosing an SAE, for an entry form.

Haverhill Golf Classic

Popular tournament is great charity fundraiser

Golfers will be teeing off later this month for a charity event which has netted more than £100,000 for good causes over the past decade or so – and there is still time to join them. The Haverhill Charity Golf Classic, organised in association with the Haverhill Weekly News, will take place at Haverhill Golf Club on Saturday, June 27, with the first tee off at 8am. So far 30 teams of four have signed up for the event and organisers would welcome a few more. Haverhill Golf Club and Haverhill Rotary Club have joined forces for the past four years to run the event, which last year raised £14,000 and was a major contributor to the Weekly News St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, which raised £40,000 in just over a year to allow patients in the Haverhill area to receive services in their own homes. This year's event, sponsored by M J Pipe, Suffolk Insurance and Printwise, is in aid of St Nicholas Hospice and the Rotaries Charity Fund, which distributes cash to local groups. Entertainment will be provided in the evening by 'Lancashire Laughing Machine' Lester Crabtree, with a charity auction as well. Chris Briggs, President of Haverhill Golf Club, said: "We decided to choose the Hospice again because they do such a good job and they need every penny. We would still like a few more teams to join us. It is a great day out for golfers and raises a lot of money for good causes at the same time. Anyone interested in taking part in the event or donating raffle or auction prizes should contact Chris at Haverhill Golf Club on (01440) 761951.

Students show interest in Foodbank

SOME strange-looking characters turned up at a middle school, as pupils and staff joined in a non-uniform day in aid of a new Foodbank scheme.

Pupils and staff at Chalkstone Middle School recently held the event and collected 126kg of food and £175.

Since it opened its doors less than a year ago, the Foodbank has gone from strength to strength in helping out people who are experiencing financial problems.

Henry Wilson, community project manager for the scheme, said: "Needless to say, we were overwhelmed with the response."

Non-perishable and in-date food items or cash can be donated at the Next Door Café, next to Haverhill Methodist Church in Camps Road, Haverhill.

Deadly games raise cash for arts festival

A GROUP of 45 would-be sleuths recently took part in a murder mystery night to raise funds for the Haverhill Performing Arts Festival.

The event, organised by committee member Helen Burns, was staged at Sturmer Village Hall with an amateur cast of family and friends providing the evening's entertainment as the staff of St Pippins College.

Inspector IB Clueless, played by Lily Burns, untangled a web of lies and deceit to provide a host of clues for the sleuths to solve.

The event raised £563 for the festival, which will take place at Haverhill Arts Centre in November and is open to children and young people up to the age of 18.

The festival is run in partnership with Haverhill Arts Centre, with financial support from Haverhill Town Council.

This year, the festival will offer a wider range of classes and add a new music section to give more children the chance to take part.

The music section of the festival will be held from Friday

November 20 to Sunday November 22. The speech and drama section will run from Friday November 27 to Monday November 30.

Closing date for entries is September 12.

Copies of the programme are available from Haverhill Arts Centre, or by contacting the chairman, Sam Tucker, on (01440) 714648.

Mr Tucker would also like to hear from local businesses who would like to support the event by providing the festival with cups, trophies or awards for the new music section.

Big 'thank you' to poppy sellers

LOYAL poppy sellers, who helped raise a bumper £8,580 in Haverhill last year were honoured at a celebration lunch on Saturday.

Brian Thomas, Royal British Legion president at Haverhill, thanked all the sellers in the town, with around 30 people attending the lunch.

Town mayor Cllr Elaine McManus and deputy mayor Cllr Paul McManus went along to present long service certificates to seven members of the Women's Royal British Legion for their efforts over the years.

Jean Hitchcock, Gertie Thake, Linda Chumbley and Hetty Manie all received certificates for 10 years' service and Betty Sizer, Sally Carr and Linda Temple, received five year certificates.

Mr Thomas also thanked residents for their generosity. Anyone interested in selling poppies can contact Mr Thomas on (01440) 705612.

MPs welcome publication of their claims, but fear omissions leave room for suspicion

Newspaper revelations lanced a boil, says MP

DETAILS of MPs' expenses claims have finally been published by the House of Commons – but many of the details which caused a public outcry have been omitted.

Information about many claims that provoked public outrage has been blacked out of the official paperwork, which is now included on the Commons website.

The release of tens of thousands of claim forms and receipts on the website more than a year after the High Court ordered their publication is likely to lead to demands for greater openness.

It is impossible to identify many of the abuses which came out as a result of the earlier leak of the same material to the Daily Telegraph – before crucial details were blacked out.

There are no addresses for MPs' homes, meaning it would have been virtually impossible to identify so-called "flipping", whereby MPs switch the designation of their second properties to maximise their claims.

Also "redacted" – in other words edited out – are the names and details of people and companies to whom payments were made using expenses. Correspondence between MPs and the Commons Fees Office has also been removed.

Richard Spring, Conservative

BY STEPHEN EXLEY

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

MP for West Suffolk, whose constituency includes Newmarket and Haverhill, said he was pleased at the publication of allowances for the past four years.

But he said he was unhappy at the blanking out of many of the details.

He said: "I didn't ask for one personal redaction.

"There is nothing there I would have been unwilling to have printed.

"However difficult and painful it has been, I feel the Daily Telegraph revelations have lanced a boil."

Among the material which has not been released is the notorious schedule of expenses submitted by Tory MP Douglas Hogg, which included the cost of clearing the moat at his Lincolnshire country home, and fellow Tory Sir Peter Viggers' disallowed £1,645 claim for a duck house.

In May, it was revealed South Cambridgeshire MP and shadow health secretary Andrew Lansley would refund £2,600 claimed for improvements to his thatched Tudor cottage in Cambridgeshire, which was redecorated using expensive Farrow & Ball paint before being sold in 2006.

After the latest details were officially released, Mr Lansley was keen to play down the blanking out of many of the details.

He said: "I didn't ask for one personal redaction (blanking out). There is nothing there I would have been unwilling to have printed.

"However difficult and painful it has been, I feel the Daily Telegraph revelations have lanced a boil. I think the public have a right to know what money has been spent on their behalf by their MPs.

"The system which has developed is ridiculous and embarrassing.

"There should be a simple system of a lump sum of money which should be totally transparent."

Among Mr Spring's additional costs allowances for 2007 was £35.25 for tackling a wasps' nest.

He said: "I have no recollection of making a claim for that. I'm not sure why I put that in. It seems to be an odd thing.

"I have a thatched cottage and the wasps had built a nest at the front and I couldn't get in because they were flying around the front door."

publication, arguing that no new embarrassing pieces of information would be emerging and insisting there had been no wrongdoing on his part.

He said: "I, along with other members of the party, did voluntarily pay money back, not as an admission of wrongdoing, but to recognise that the public felt the expenses system was over-generous."

He also said he did not see the need for personal details to be blanked out, adding: "People who want to know where I live can look me up in the phone book."

Jim Paice, Tory representative for South East Cambridgeshire, said he felt some of the censoring of details had been excessive.

He said: "I am pleased addresses and bank details have been kept private, but there are some things which I do not think should have been.

"I do think they have gone over the top with hiding some of the details and that could make the general public suspicious."

Scotland Yard officers could announce full criminal investigations into a handful of MPs over their expenses within weeks.

Commissioner Sir Paul Stephenson declined to speculate on how many MPs might face a police probe, which includes the prospect of being interviewed under caution or even arrested.

Cash fears hit project at hospital

BY JOHN MORGAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

LOOKING at the fields around Addenbrooke's shows you something big is going on.

A small army of diggers and lorries have been at work on a spur of the guided busway that will link to Addenbrooke's and an access road that will connect the hospital with the M11.

The new transport links are needed to ferry staff and patients to the transformed Addenbrooke's set out in the hospital's 2020 Vision.

The ambitious expansion plan aims to double the size of the site and create a biomedical campus of international standing.

A new £200 million home for Papworth Hospital is part of the vision, with an £80 million children's hospital and new emergency department among the other possibilities. But the vision is jarring against uncomfortable realities.

Despite the fact that outline planning permission was given by Cambridge City Council in November 2007, final approval has still not been awarded.

The reason for the hold-up lies with those transport links and with the tough economic climate. For every development, whether a hospital expansion or housing, the developer must make a contribution to services or infrastructure that is needed for the development.

In the case of the 2020 Vision, Cambridgeshire County Council requires several millions of pounds in payments towards the guided busway and access road from the developers, Countryside Properties and Liberty Property Trust UK.

For the council, the sticking point is the need for guarantees that it will be repaid the money it borrowed to spend on the guided bus spur and access road – whatever happens in the future. The council says it is making sure taxpayers are protected from risk.

But until a Section 106 agreement is in place, planning permission cannot be given. And until there is planning permission, Papworth cannot get on with the tough business of asking the Government to back a major public building project, to be funded under the Private Finance Initiative (PFI), during a recession.

Robert Burgin, Papworth chairman, told a governors' meeting this week that the delay was "beyond a joke".

Mr Burgin described a move from Papworth's outdated current home as "clinically necessary", adding: "The quicker we get on with it the safer it is for our patients."

Stephen Bridge, Papworth chief executive, said the delay hinged on "last minute details to be resolved between the developers and the landowner".

Another by-product of the Section 106 saga is the half-built Addenbrooke's access road, which has been left as a "road to nowhere" stopping short of the hospital at the railway line.

The developers will fill in the final stretch, the section they are responsible for, when a Section 106 is in place and planning permission is given.

Graham Hughes, the county council's director of growth and infrastructure, said the council was "working hard" to end the 2020 delays, adding: "We understand the need for Papworth to get this issue resolved."

Mr Hughes said: "There are issues between us and the developers in terms of guarantees that we require all developers to make in terms of Section 106 payments."

"I would stress the point that what we are dealing with is something very different to the way Section 106 agreements normally work."

He added: "What we are asking now is for the means of guaranteeing that money does come back to us. We don't want to sign any agreement without specific guarantees."

The council aimed to "ensure local taxpayers' money is protected", Mr Hughes said.

He added: "A lot of the issues we are facing on these legal agreements are because of the difficult economic climate. Things that might have been easy to agree a while ago are not easy now. Developers need to protect themselves as well."

A spokesman for Countryside Properties and Liberty Property Trust UK said payments for major infrastructure were agreed nine months ago and the timing of the payments was agreed six months ago.

The spokesman said the delays were "beyond the control of the developers and their partners", adding: "The developers would like to urge the planning authorities to expedite the planning consent as soon as possible so that they can go on to create a 'can-do' scientific health care centre of excellence in Cambridge including a new Laboratory of Molecular Biology for the Medical Research Council, a new home for Papworth Hospital and the expansion of Addenbrooke's."

Eileen pours her final cup of char

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AFTER more than five years of serving up cups of tea and providing a friendly chat, Eileen Satwick is saying goodbye to staff and customers at a community resource centre.

Eileen was a founder member of The Monday Morning Coffee Group, held at the Resource Centre on the Clements Estate, in Haverhill, but is moving on. Eileen, who currently lives on the Chalkstone estate, poured her last cups of tea and coffee on Monday.

Joan Key, co-founder of the group, said: "She will be sorely missed. For more than five years, Eileen has crossed town to ensure this facility is available to all comers.

"She has a well-earned reputation for remembering the preferred drink of all the regular callers and has a warm smile and friendly greeting for everyone. Everyone who knows Eileen, wishes her well and much happiness in her new home."

supported by the Salvation Army, and is next to their shop off Leiston Road.

When St Edmundsbury representatives realised that their aim of setting up a residents' committee on the Clements Estate was not well-enough supported, they asked Eileen and Joan if they could use the facility, to be available to their tenants. As most of the people attending these meetings also used the coffee morning group, it has proved a very successful use of the premises.

The Monday get-togethers are also attended by members of the Safer Neighbourhood Team and on the first Monday of the month.

Anyone with a problem they wish to discuss with any of these organisations should come along, either for a general chat, or to talk in private in the office.

Picasso is stolen from parking bay

A GREEN Citroen Picasso was stolen from a parking bay at Maypole Terrace, Haverhill, between 7pm on Friday, June 12 and 10am on Saturday and later found burnt out in Stoke-by-Clare.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Richard Oldroyd at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Man charged with drink-driving

A MAN has been charged with drink-driving following a road traffic collision on Ehringshausen Way, Haverhill, on the afternoon of Thursday, June 11.

Terry Lindley, 43, of Robin Close in Haverhill, was due to appear before Bury St Edmunds magistrates this week.

Pals reunited thanks to the Weekly News

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO OLD friends are to meet up again for the first time in 50 years – after being reunited by a story in the Weekly News.

Brian Cogan, 67, spotted the name of the Rev Michael Hill when he read a story about moves by the Rail Renewal Association to try to revive the rail link between Sudbury, Haverhill and Cambridge. Mr Cogan grew up in Preston, Lancashire, in the 1960s and remembered a Rev Michael Hill, who was the priest at his local church during his teenage years.

Mr Cogan asked the Weekly News for a telephone number for Rev Hill and was delighted to find it was the same man, who he had not seen since for more than 50 years. Now the pair plan to meet up and reminisce over old times.

Mr Cogan said: "I was born in Kent and during the war we were evacuated out, then moved to Preston. We moved to Thetford and my dad did double glazing, so we moved to Haverhill in late 1974 because that was more in the centre of where the work was. I have been here ever since.

"When I saw the piece in the paper, I thought I know a Rev Hill, from when he took up his first post in Preston. I wondered if it was the same one. I knew him quite well in my teenage life, but I have not seen him since.

"He was quite surprised when I spoke to him – 50 years is a long time and it must have been quite a shock for him.

"We are going to get together, so thank you very much for helping us to meet up again after all this time."

Challenge to help pupils in job hunt

CHALLENGES were set for a group of upper school pupils to help get them ready to start looking for a job.

A group of 20 Year 10 students at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill recently took part in a two-day conference, which was the culmination of a series of work-related learning events, including CV preparation, job interviews and two weeks of work experience in May.

Students worked in teams of 10 to compete for the best score of the day, tackling a series of energetic tasks designed to encourage leadership, team building and interpersonal skills.

Some of the activities took place outside on the school field and were designed and run by the YMCA to test problem-solving and leadership abilities. These particular challenges involved getting very wet!

The teams who worked indoors were challenged to design, cost and produce a book bag. Each team presented their business ideas to a panel of judges at the end of the day.

This activity was enhanced by the presence of a local employer, who acted as mentor to a group.

Quadrophenia in new clothes

A NEW stage adaptation of QUADROPHENIA – the seminal story of the 60s Mod era as seen through the eyes of a hedonistic teenager – has arrived in Cambridge.

Here, legendary Who guitarist and songwriter Pete Townsend shares his thoughts on the production, which is being performed at Cambridge Arts Theatre this week.

■ How did you come to write Quadrophenia?

I have a strange way of approaching what I do. I am inspired by very diverse circumstances and conditions. With Quadrophenia, a very wide range of inspirational strands came together in a very short space of time. The Who as a band decided to build a commercial studio for themselves. I was already building a private studio for myself in the country. I was also pursuing a new idea, telling a story using sound effects. So I was often out and about with a field recorder listening to trains, birds, cars, planes, rivers, the sea and the chatter of people in pubs.

In the midst of all this came the news that quadraphonic sound was about to arrive as a domestic format on vinyl records. Pink Floyd had already pioneered four-channel sound in their concerts, but what excited me was bringing The Who – an astonishing band to stand in the middle of when they played at full tilt – to life on vinyl in surround sound.

At the same time, I felt I wanted to try to compose a set of songs about the internal struggle I saw so many of my peers were still experiencing. A lot of them seemed to have drug and alcohol issues that had turned into psychoses. Remember that my immediate peers had all been Mods, most of them, and so it was natural to set the story in the closing years of that movement. Subsequently the idea was somewhat deepened, but also somewhat confused, by the notion that a member of The Who could reflect each facet of Jimmy's character. I am still uneasy about this. This is the story of a member of our audience not of the band, but we had big egos and wanted to feature in the story somewhere.

■ What can audiences expect from this new adaptation?

We are hoping for a new kind of musical. That is probably dangerous, but that is what we want. It will not resemble the film, except that I believe The Girl (Sydney Rae White) will be more important in this play than she was on the album and more pivotal than in the film. On the album we only observed the girl from Jimmy's screwed-up point of view. In the film, and more so in our play, we see her as real person, with her own story to tell and her own frustrations about what Mods did and did not achieve.

I want the show to entertain, of course, but a grander mission is to see it connect with the audience as well. Good rock music, as we now call my kind of pop, must be functional, it has to do something more than just entertain.

■ How do you think new audiences – those who have yet to discover the film – and existing fans will respond to this adaptation?

I have no idea. But the young cast members all said they felt a connection with the issues it embraces. But then they would, wouldn't they? My concern is that Mod old-timers might get too caught up in what they believe to be the fine details. We are not trying to recreate the Mod world.

■ Quadrophenia is at Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday at 7.45pm (Thurs mat 2.30pm, Sat mat 3.30pm). Tickets £10-£30. Contact (01223) 503 333 or www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

Who lined up all this great stuff?

TOBY Hadoke's Moths Ate My Doctor Who Scarf received five-star reviews at the Edinburgh Festival and fans can catch his show at the Haverhill Arts Centre tomorrow at 8pm.

Hadoke charts the rise, fall and rise again of a TV legend. Funny, witty and cleverly written, this show is a must for all fans, young and old.

■ Have fun and get some exercise at the same time with a Festival Ceilidh at the arts centre on Saturday from 7.30pm.

The Hosepipe Band, an Essex-based, well-established English ceilidh band, will be playing traditional and newly-composed material on acoustic and electric instruments. The band's English sound is tinged with European influences as well as hints of jazz and rock. A buffet is included in the ticket price

■ Limehouse Lizzy return to the arts centre on Friday, July 3 as part of their Spirit of the Black Rose Tour, keeping the spirit of Thin Lizzy alive. They explore and celebrate the artistic and musical legacy of the hard-living, hard-rocking, yet tender and romantic Philip Lynott. Attention to detail, playful audience interaction and that all-important X-factor leave you with the feeling of witnessing the real thing. Rock on from 8pm. Tickets are cheaper before the night, so make a saving now.

■ The end of the Haverhill Festival will be marked once again with the very popular Last Night of the Festival Proms at the Old Independent Church on Sunday, June 28 at 7.30pm. Join Haverhill Silver Band and Haverhill Operatic Society for lots of flag waving.

■ In 1966, you only heard two hours of rock and roll a week from the BBC, but pirate radio blasted rock and pop from the high seas 24 hours a day. The Boat That Rocked (15), a new comedy from Richard Curtis, features a host of Brit talent and focuses on the romance between young people and pop music. It screens at the arts centre next Monday and Tuesday at 7.45pm.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Wonderful way to spend a summer evening

A CHANCE to take a journey through Wonderland with an open air theatre production is on offer on Saturday.

Cambridge Touring Theatre takes to the road for the seventh successful year with its lively and often hilarious performance of Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, which will be staged at Haverhill's East Town Park in Coupsals Road at 5pm.

Written in 1865 by Lewis Carroll, the story follows the adventures of Alice as she travels through a remarkable world, where she meets strange and curious creatures.

Tickets are £7.50, £5 concessions and £20 for a family ticket, available from the Haverhill Arts Centre on (01440) 714140. Families are invited to take along a picnic.

Fun taking those first Sunny Steps

BY ALICE RYAN

WHETHER they're stomping across the floor like a dinosaur or flying round the room like a fairy, the children at Sunny Steps clearly have a whale of a time.

Beaming from ear to ear, the pre-schoolers jump and jive, wriggle and even do forward rolls around the dance floor.

"The reward for me is seeing their faces," admits Alison Thompson, who runs Sunny Steps, a dance and movement class for 2 to 4-year-olds. "They absolutely beam. And I love to see that moment when they have enough confidence to take a step away from their parent or carer and join in: they really listen to what I'm saying and focus on what we're doing... That's a very special moment."

Alison, herself a trained dancer, set up Sunny Steps in 2002 – when her eldest child, Katie, now 9, was just 2 years old.

"I went to lots of groups," she explains. "And I realised that I was doing things at home that we didn't do in the classes – like creeping round the kitchen like tigers, or flying around like Peter Pan."

"Several of my friends said 'We don't do that, we do "the wheels on the bus"' – and if you did a group we'd be interested in coming along. I went home and wrote down some ideas, I ended up with reams and reams! I then made it more structured, and so Sunny Steps was born."

Alison started dancing when she was tiny and says ballet was her first passion.

At 18, on finishing her A levels, she went on to study at the London Contemporary Dance School; after performing professionally, she then started to teach.

When she became a mum – she now has three children, Lucy, 7, and Benjamin, 4, as well as Katie – Alison decided she wanted a job which would fit in with family life. And Sunny Steps, she adds, does just that.

Every session begins with a warm-up, followed by all kinds of movement and dance – using props, like ribbons and pom-poms, a wide range of music, from nursery rhymes to Elvis, and plenty of imagination.

"We were doing Bob the Builder today," laughs Alison. "So we had to spin round and round like Dizzy and wash the windows at Farmer Pickles' house..."

Alison runs four weekly Sunny Steps classes – in Papworth Everard, St Ives, Chesterton and Cambourne.

All are drop-in sessions which she describes as "fun, friendly and relaxed".

"I think the sessions boost children's confidence. They introduce them to movement and exercise, what our bodies can do – like stretch up high, crouch down low, move quickly, move slowly. It's also good for their balance and spatial awareness."

"At the end of the class I ask the children to help me put the props away. They sit at one end of the room I stand at the other. And I ask them each, in turn, to bring back their ribbon, feather, whatever."

"Some children run, which is great. But, occasionally, a child will try something different – like doing rolipolys – and that's fantastic."

■ Sunny Steps costs £4 per child per class (and £3 for siblings). For more information visit www.sunnysteps.co.uk or call (01954) 267378.

Smelling of roses is best and worst

Roses are Britain's favourite plant, according to a new poll – but they are also on our most hated list.

Some 7,500 people voted online to establish the nation's gardening loves and hates in the inaugural Gardeners' World Awards 2009. Roses topped the poll as the most loved plant, but also the most hated.

While some loved the variety of appealing scents and styles, a long flowering season and an iconic image of romance, others damned them for "all those prickles and overblown blossoms".

Roses can also be plagued by aphids and blackspot, and can demand high maintenance.

So how can we turn our most hated plant into one that we will all love and cherish?

Adam Pasco, editor of BBC Gardeners' World magazine, insists that choosing roses is a very personal thing, and that someone else's taste may not be yours.

"Don't tar all roses with the same brush. Just because some roses don't appeal doesn't mean there aren't others out there you'll love," he says.

"There are roses to suit every style and taste. Look further than those in local garden centres to discover the rich and diverse range available from specialist rose nurseries.

"You'll find them all on the internet, with colours to suit any scheme. Don't grow them in isolation, but mix roses with other flowers to create enchanting combinations."

by Hannah Stephenson

Names play a big part in rose appeal, he believes.

"Dozens of new varieties join old favourites each year, but those we love tend to have names that are personal and meaningful.

"Their name is often as important as colour, shape and form, so search around for roses with names that really mean something to you."

If you want roses with real flower power, choose repeat-flowering varieties that bloom again and again, right through to the autumn.

"For many people, a rose without scent simply isn't worth growing," Pasco advises. "While cut blooms in supermarkets often smell of nothing, those being bred for our gardens offer stunning fragrance to die for.

"In fact, good fragrance comes at the top of the list with most rose breeders, as they know that's what people are now looking for."

Roses used to have a reputation for being high-maintenance and demanding a time-consuming regular care regime, but now there are many new types on the market which simply don't need as much looking after.

Sweet peas and fuchsias came second and third in the nation's favourite garden plant category, while ivy and hostas were the second and third most unpopular.

BEST OF THE BUNCH Heuchera

This evergreen ground cover plant has been used in abundance in all the gardening shows this year, its upright stems bearing small flowers which attract bees.

I love the darker-leaved varieties such as H Chocolate Ruffles, with its brown, ruffled leaves and H micrantha Palace Purple, a clump-forming perennial with dark, purple-red foliage topped with airy sprays of white flowers in summer. If you want vivid green leaves, go for H Green Ivory, which forms bright green, lobed and rounded foliage that can make an effective edging plant. It produces small green flowers on upright stems in early summer and will tolerate full shade where the ground is constantly damp.

Heucheras are best planted in groups. Many are very tough and will tolerate – and even thrive in – a semi-shaded position, and are not pH sensitive.

GOOD ENOUGH TO EAT Kohl Rabi

The unusual bulbs, or swollen stems, of this vegetable are best picked and eaten raw grated in salads when they are a bit bigger than a golf ball. Sown in April, May and June, they can be harvested in eight to 12 weeks.

At this time of year you can sow the seeds directly into the soil thinly in drills with rows around 12 inches (30cm) apart. Thin the seedlings until plants are 4-6in (10-15cm) apart. Water and weed carefully to avoid damage to the thin stem, and make sure you don't let the ground dry out or the kohlrabi will become tough and woody.

Harvest by lifting the roots and removing the stem underneath the swollen bulb.

Peel older bulbs before grating into salads, stir fries or boiling. Roots can be stored for a short time in boxes of sand or peat, once the outer leaves have been removed. Good varieties include 'Kolibri F1', with its deep purple bulbs and white flesh, or 'Lanro', a green type ideal for soups, coleslaw and salad.

THREE WAYS TO ... Keep birds off fruit

1. Net the plants of emerging fruits, but make sure you check it twice a day to ensure birds have not become trapped.

2. Thread some old CDs through a washing line secured above crops such as strawberries – the movement and reflection should deter the birds.

3. Install a fruit cage around trees to protect your harvest.

Why sell the traditional way?

Get Estate Agents to value it and put it on the market.

Show people around the property (mostly "nosy parkers" & sightseers).

If no offers received after 2 or 3 months, reduce price.

Show more people around.

Eventually accept an offer at between 5 & 10% off the advertised price.

Hope the sale doesn't fall through (over 30% of sales don't reach completion).

Once price agreed, wait a further 3 months for sale to complete.

Work out how many £000s it has cost you in reducing the price, making mortgage payments, paying Estate Agents fees and legal fees since you started the process (on average, 7 months ago...)

Sell your property the CXG way...

The simple alternative

- Pay no Estate Agent's fees
- Pay no Legal fees
- No further mortgage payments
- Have cash within days (Instead of months)

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.
- ☐ Other lease, hire or rental companies.
- ☐ Employer.
- ☐ Doctor.
- ☐ Dentist.
- ☐ Schools.
- ☐ Professional Bodies/Trade Unions.
- ☐ Motoring organisations.
- ☐ Newsagent.
- ☐ Friends and relatives.

Z4 is full of sensory delight

ONE glance tells you this is the Z4 for today, writes Matt Joy: it looks sharper, even more heavily sculpted than before and more desirable as a result, but the big news is the roof.

The original Z4 started out as a roadster with a rapid-fire fabric roof. Then came the fabulous coupé which replaced fabric with steel. It was unusual looking for sure, but arguably more attractive than the roadster. So despite previously saying that a folding metal roof was unnecessary, BMW did the decent thing and created a new roof that gives coupé-looks and security while retaining the delights of wind and sun if you want.

It's a little bigger too, not by a noticeable amount viewed from the outside, but there are gains from the stretch on the inside. While the cabin of the Z4 is as snug as you would expect from any two-seater, it shouldn't result in twitchiness from the claustrophobic. Better still is the revised cabin layout, which puts the essential controls high up on the dash while still leaving room for the satnav system should you specify it.

It looks smarter than before and more substantial too, although it doesn't actually take up any more room – much effort has been expended in order to add a little more interior space. It's effective too: there's a handy glovebox over your right shoulder which can swallow 10 litres of whatever, and while the door bins are more like pockets, you can still squeeze plenty in there. The only backwards step is the cupholders, which once sprouted handily from the dash but now lie under the armrest and are a bit too shallow. But if that's all that's wrong with the cabin, then it's clearly a success.

There's also been some tweaking going on in the engine room. The Z4's line-up now consists of three engine choices: 2.5-litre and 3.0-litre petrols, plus the 3.0-litre twin-turbocharged unit seen in the 1 and 3-Series models. Hence the slight name change: Z4s now wear the "sDrive" label, which denotes two-wheel drive and a sporty bent, as opposed to the 4WD "xDrive" models.

As the entry-level model, the sDrive23i delivers 204bhp and 184lb ft of torque – modest hot hatch output these days – but unlike many of those, the BMW's unit is six-cylinders and naturally aspirated. So while it may not deliver the mighty punch in the back that a turbo unit gives, it is infinitely smoother and more balanced in its power delivery. You need to rev it to extract maximum performance but that's no hardship, as the gearbox is slick and the straight-six powerplant gives up a pleasing snarl as you do so. The figures are no less impressive: 0-62mph takes just 6.6 seconds and it runs on to 149mph, which should be more than enough. But if you want your Z4 to be more of a muscle car, then the bigger engines will supply the buzz.

The excellent engine range is something of a given with a BMW, but the old Z4 had something of a reputation for being a little firm in the ride department. That's all changed now because not only does the standard car have different suspension settings, there's an Adaptive M Suspension option that changes the damper settings, giving you three options – the stiffest of which is similar to the old car's standard settings.

As it should be: New Z4 sDrive is a far more balanced proposition.

Basically

The Z4 is still sporty of course, but in comfort mode there's no need to wince or wear a gumshield over potholes. Yet it loses none of the sharp and responsive reactions that make a sports car – and a BMW – everything it should be.

Best and worst green cars listed

A FAMILY-SIZED hybrid vehicle – the Honda Insight – was named green car of the year by the Environmental Transport Association (ETA) this week.

The Insight emits just 101 grams of carbon dioxide per one kilometre (101g/k) and beat off the challenge of more than 1,300 other vehicles examined by the ETA.

In contrast, the “dirtiest” car was found to be the 8-litre Dodge SRT-10 sports car, which emits 488g/k.

The ETA said a year's driving in the Dodge SRT-10 emits the same amount of CO₂ as is absorbed by 322 mature trees – the equivalent Best off-roader: Subaru Outback AWD.

Worst oil-burners: The Dodge SRT-10's 8-litre engine emits the same amount of CO₂ in a year as is absorbed by an acre of oak forest.

of an acre of oak forest.

Other far-from-green vehicles were the Bentley Brooklands Coupe (465g/k), the Mercedes R-Class R63 AMG (387g/k) and the Cadillac Escalade (383g/k).

Ultra-clean vehicles included the Toyota iQ 1.0 VVT-i (99g/k), the Toyota Yaris 1.4 D-4-D 6-speed (109g/k) and the Vauxhall Tigra 1.3CDTi (124g/k).

ETA director Andrew Davis said: “The discrepancy between the greenest and the least green cars in Britain today is striking, but the market is changing and a combination of consumer pressure alongside Government leadership will result in an increasing choice of environmentally-sound cars.

“The big problem is not the Dodge SRT-10s and Lamborghinis because there are not many of them on the road. The concern is that people are continuing to buy cars that are much too big for their real needs.”

The ETA said many of the most-polluting cars on British roads were signed up for the Government's “cash for bangers” car scrappage scheme.

The ETA said the initiative had been described as “green” because it aimed to replace older vehicles with new, fuel-efficient models.

The ETA went on: “In theory it means someone who scraps a 1999 Volkswagen Lupo TDi 3L, (81g/k) and buys a 2009 Bentley Arnage (465g/k) would receive a £1,000 taxpayer-funded payment. The Bentley produces more than five times as much CO₂ as the smaller car.”

Ford gets in early for digital switch

FORD drivers remain in pole position to benefit from the UK's digital switchover – thanks to the latest generation of in-car entertainment available on Ford cars.

As the Government reveals its “Digital Britain” roadmap this week, the majority of Ford models are already available with Digital Audio Broadcasting (DAB) radios, enabling drivers to enjoy a wider choice of stations and digital-quality sound.

DAB audio systems have been fitted to Kuga, Mondeo, S-Max and Galaxy models since mid-2008, with more than 50 per cent of these sales including DAB as standard equipment.

Ford: Digitized.

Titanium versions of the Ford Focus and C-Max also now come with DAB as standard.

Paul Singleton, Ford of Britain product marketing manager, said: “Ford has been the leader in making DAB radio available in cars, and it has become a popular feature. We welcome the clear direction for digital radio switchover set out in the Government's “Digital

Britain” report.”

For an alternative source of digital sounds, most Ford models – including the exciting new Ford Ka and Ford Fiesta – are available with USB ports, so that drivers can listen to music or other audio files stored on memory sticks. MP3 players or mobiles can be connected via a 3.5mm socket and most Apple iPods can be linked by a connector, available from Ford dealers, which enables full control of the iPod using the main audio system controls.

Drivers can check coverage and reception of DAB stations in their area at www.getdab.com.

Seat hot hatch trio priced

Ibiza Cupra: Awesome DSG is a treat.

MORE details, and confirmed prices, for Seat's forthcoming trio of scorching Ibiza hot hatches are revealed last week.

The fire-breathing threesome, which are all available to order now with deliveries beginning on October 1, bring innovative new technology to the sporting supermini segment for the very first time with RRP's starting at £14,995.

Showcasing Seat's engineering prowess, while taking the brand's sporty design to new heights with the concept car-inspired Bocanegra, the newcomers are poised to inject a serious dose of Latin passion into the compact hot hatch class.

At the heart of all three of these Spanish fliers is Seat's mould-breaking new 1.4-litre TSI twin-charged petrol engine which is set up to deliver a potent 147bhp in the FR, and a downright fiery 176bhp in the range-topping Cupra and Bocanegra.

In either state of tune, the four cylinder 1.4-litre TSI uses state-of-the-art supercharging and turbo-charging to reach its remarkable peak power outputs, with both forms of forced induction contributing to the engine's enviably linear power delivery and commendably flat torque curve.

The new FR's 147bhp version, for instance, provides its 220Nm maximum pulling power at just 1,250rpm and continues that right through to 4,500rpm. Allied as it is to a new, second generation, seven-speed DSG gearbox the engine can propel the lowered, stiffened Ibiza FR from rest to 62mph in as little as 7.7 seconds and on to a top speed, where legal, that's comfortably on the exciting side of 130mph.

Steering wheel-mounted F1-style shift paddles allow the driver to wring every ounce of excitement out of the new, dual dry clutch, Direct-Shift Gearbox which, aside from allowing swifter gear changes than are humanly possible with a conventional 'box, also improves fuel economy when compared with a standard manual transmission.

Provisional figures show the Ibiza FR's combined fuel economy stands at 44.8mpg, while CO2 emissions are put at just 146g/km.

Provisionally, it's a similar story with the new Ibiza Cupra and Ibiza Bocanegra. Upping the output from the twin-charged 1.4 TSI to 176bhp, while employing the same cutting edge DSG transmission technology and clever XDS electronic differential as the FR, this brace of exciting hot hatches is capable of yet more impressive performance.

Both Cupra and Bocanegra will hit 62mph from rest in a frenetic 7.2 seconds before pressing on, where legal, to a top speed of 140mph.

Fuel economy for the 176bhp cars is no less impressive, considering the significant performance on offer. Both are provisionally put at 44.1mpg on the combined cycle, with only fractionally higher CO2 stats than the Ibiza FR at 148g/km.

Confirmed RRP's for all three models are:

- Seat Ibiza FR 1.4 TSI 147bhp DSG £14,995
- Seat Ibiza Cupra 1.4 TSI 176bhp DSG £15,995
- Seat Ibiza Bocanegra 1.4 TSI 176bhp DSG £16,695.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF)

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility.

Student Services Assistant

The Open University in the East of England
£17,519 - £19,645 Refs: 5752 & 5753

Based in Cambridge

Are you a team worker with excellent customer service skills?

We require two Student Services Assistants to work in our Learner Support Services section providing a wide range of services to students in the East of England by telephone, email, letter and face-to-face.

Learner Support Services provides information and advice to those studying our courses, including support for students with disabilities and students in prison, and arranges examinations. We also support our Careers Service, manage the library and organise two degree ceremonies.

You should be comfortable with new technology, have excellent communication skills, an ability to deal with complex information and procedures and be able to prioritise and switch tasks when necessary. Experience of Higher Education would be helpful but not essential, as would an appreciation of the kind of education provided by The Open University. In one of the posts, secretarial skills will be required.

These positions will require working an agreed pattern between the hours of 8:30 am and 5:00 pm.

For detailed information and how to apply go to www3.open.ac.uk/employment call the Recruitment Co-ordinator on 01223 364721 or e-mail: R06-Recruit@open.ac.uk Closing date: 10 am on 30 June 2009. Interviews will be held on Tuesday 28 July 2009.

Further particulars are available in large print, disk or audiotape (minicom 01908 654901).

We promote diversity in employment and welcome applications from all sections of the community.

WORLD CENTRE FOR MATERIALS JOINING TECHNOLOGY

TWI is the world's foremost research and technology organisation for materials joining technology. Operating globally, its experts perform innovative, quality controlled, impartial projects for industry.

Technician

Ref: CEN/76/09

Ferritic Steels

Abington, Cambridge

This is an exciting opportunity to take on the role of Technician to provide metallography for our Ferritic Steels and Corrosion Resistant Alloys Sections. The sections operate with diverse business opportunities involving metallurgy, failure investigation and consultancy within a range of industries.

As part of the technician team you will work closely with Project Leaders from across TWI, with some client interaction.

Duties and responsibilities will include:

- Carrying out complex operations in metallographic sample preparation including cutting, sawing, polishing and photography
- Failure investigation work including measuring, marking, cutting and assembly of failed samples for metallographic preparation
- Scheduled maintenance on the range of equipment used for metallographic preparation work
- Assisting the team leader in the tidiness of the laboratory and the compliance with the Health & Safety requirements

Educated to BTEC level or equivalent in an engineering or related discipline, you will possess a strong background in materials/mechanical engineering and have practical problem solving skills with an eye for detail, combined with good communication and IT skills. Knowledge of the importance of correct sample receipt, cutting and preparation of sections for metallographic examination and digital image capture would also be an advantage. Training will be provided either in house or externally when needed.

As part of the role you will be expected to work in accordance with current Health & Safety requirements to high quality standards within tight and demanding deadlines. At times there will be the requirement to work on sites both overseas and in the UK carrying out a range of activities to support the work of the technology group.

Applicants should send their CV with a covering letter to recruitment@twi.co.uk no later than 10 July 2009. Please quote reference CEN/76/09 on all correspondence.

BE A 'PROPERTY PROFESSIONAL'

Regardless of the recession, a new European Directive now legally requires an estimated 2.5 million homes and commercial properties being rented, sold or built to have an Energy Assessment this year alone. And more 'green environmental' laws are coming!

For example next year nearly every commercial property with air-conditioning must have an Assessment before the January 2011 deadline.

Applicants are therefore required to train now as multi-skilled 'Property Professionals' to carry out commercial and air-conditioning Energy Assessments and many other roles such as Flood and Fire Risk Assessments, Energy Audits, Insulation Surveys, Property Valuations, Home Condition Reports, Public Buildings Assessments etc.

No previous experience is necessary, training to join this new growth industry can usually be taken around current job at our nationwide training centres approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment and is subsidised. On qualifying start your own energy business, work for other Assessment Providers or be available for potential full or part-time work through our Energy Assessor Panel with earnings of £50 to £1,200 per Assessment.

ref: HCM260

Ring today for an interview and find out more about a career opportunity in this fast-expanding, new 'green' industry.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

NETBALL

Haverhill's shooting stars

THE opening play in Haverhill Ladies' East Suffolk League, Division Two match with Moreton D was even with the first quarter ending 5-5.

Haverhill stepped up their game with some outstanding team play, and, as confidence grew, some fine set plays saw them move ahead. Players-of-the-match Natalie Franklin and Heather Sangster did some outstanding shooting to secure Haverhill's 28-12 victory.

Abington blitzed as records fall

ABINGTON'S bowlers were put to the sword as Long Melford's Stuart Whitehart smashed a league record unbeaten 157 in their A H Cup, third-round tie.

He struck 12 sixes and a dozen fours as Melford posted a league record total of 263 for 4.

Abington's batsmen also played their part in the match with their 161 for 9 elping to create a league record for the highest amount of runs in a match.

Simon Bishop with 57 and David Pimblett 47 were Abington's top batsmen, while Whitehart was well supported by Johan Oberholzer (47), while Justin Burton scored 34 to go with his 3 for 23.

Holders Horseheath bowed out of the competition at the hands of Sawston, who remain unbeaten.

Dan Goldsmith scored 57 for Horseheath, who crashed to 92 all out in reply to Sawston's 138 for 5.

It was a night to forget for Weston Colville as they were bowled out for 33 by Babraham.

John Woodgate took 4 for 8 and Dan Archer 4 for 12 for Babraham, who then knocked off the runs in just four overs.

Haverhill went safely through to the next round in a high-scoring match at home to Brockley.

Half-century: Horseheath's Dan Goldsmith, whose effort was in vain.

Joe Reed (30), Stuart Fisher (27) and Ryan Atkinson (36) did the lion's share of the scoring for the visitors, who posted 136 for 4.

Neil Winter with 61 and Adam Dellar 42 not out saw Haverhill through with two overs remaining.

In the League Cup, holders Abington II were beaten by Division 3B leaders Castle Manor.

Vic Sharma top scored with 43 as Abington opened with 101 for 8. Manor's Alex Talbot bagged 3 for 20.

Liam Savage's 28 then led Manor to a five-wicket win in 18.5 overs.

Mill Green beat Babraham II by six wickets, despite 40 from Jeff Free being more than half his team's all out total of 74.

James Marchant with 30 and Ed Ford 3 for 16 took the eye for Mill Green.

Ashdon look very strong as Ray Maldini hit an unbeaten 62 and Chris Wisby 44 in their 139 for 3 off 16 overs against Great Yeldon.

Skipper Mark Collins then took 5 for 27 as they limited Yeldon to 111 for 9 off their 16.

A few rearranged league matches were played during the week with Ashdon completing a few days by beating Mill Green in Division Two.

Joseph O'Gorman took 6 for 15 as. Green were dismissed for 75 in reply to Ashdon's 169 for 7.

In Division 3A, Wrattling Lions had a close game with Highpoint, eventually winning by two runs.

Division 3B saw Abington II skittle Balsham for 51 (Dave Furlow 5 for 9) and knock off the runs for the loss of four wickets.

Youth team is poised for a whole new era

After difficult times, a youth football team has emerged with a new name and a fresh sponsor. With the demise of Grampian Gunners FC, the Under-11s will now called Withersfield Youth FC. The team has also secured a major sponsorship deal with the Frankie & Benny's restaurant chain, who have provided new kits.

Amy Morris, branch manager at Frankie & Benny's, Ehringshausen Way, Haverhill, said "We are very proud to provide financial security for these children in their hour of need, and look forward to helping them through the coming seasons." This season the boys make the move up from the eight-a-side Cambs Mini League into the 11-a-side Cambridge & District Colts League, which means there are two or three vacancies in the squad. Anyone interested in joining must be in school Year 6. Further details are available by contacting manager Neil Mustoe on 07944 864953.

CRICKET ROUND-UP

Westley leads way for Colville

WESTON Colville moved up to fifth in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League following a four-wicket win over Castor & Ailsworth on Saturday.

Alex Meddle (3 for 30) was the most productive with the ball and Adie Westley and Fred Scruby claimed two victims each as Castor were limited to 153 for 9.

Weston Colville chased down the target in less than 35 overs, with Westley (47) and Adam Curtis (39) leading them to 154 for 6.

In Division Two of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Haverhill picked up their third win on the trot with a three-wicket triumph at Brockley.

The hosts chalked up 193 for 6, but Haverhill came through with seven wickets down.

Horseheath won a close encounter at Fulbourn in Division One of the CCA Senior League.

Skipper Mark Hodgson hit 97 and Dan Ralph made 22 as Fulbourn posted a competitive 213 for 6.

Among the Horseheath bowlers captain Gary Ellis took 3 for 52 and Martin Giles got 2 for 40.

Dan Kindred (4 for 36) did his best to halt the Horseheath's progress, but Mick Ketteridge (55), Wickets and runs: Weston Colville's Adie Westley.

Steve Lanceman (34) and Sheneil Davda (25) ensured the visitors reached 214 for 8 in the last over.

Rod Dovaston and skipper Martin Buckner struck 96 and 93 respectively and Martin Farrant got 53 in Thurlow's thumping 154-run win against Cambridge NCI III in Division 1B of the Cricket Stick CCA Junior League.

The trio led their side to a fine 270 for 3 and Ben Piper (3 for 20) was the best bowler as their opponents were skittled for 116.

Ashcroft's clinches it at the last THREE played three won is the current standing of Haverhill Golf Club's Curry Cup team, under the captaincy of Joe Davis. Saturday's match against Fynn Valley at Ipswich resulted in Haverhill picking up three bonus points for the win, the final score being 8½-12½.

The visitors led 4½-1½ at lunch, following the morning foursomes, but Fynn Valley edged the afternoon singles taking seven of the available 12 points as the Haverhill tail failed to wag with the last three games being lost.

Graham Ashcroft was the hero of the hour as he negotiated the final hole skilfully to clinch victory for the team, this following on from an earlier ace at a par three hole.

Scores (Fynn Valley names first):

Foursome - P & B Clarke 2&1 down v Fish/Warwick, Smith/Phillips 1 down v Houchen/Vince, Golding/Last 2&1 down v Scott/Whiting, Warnes/Tyrell halved with Ashcroft/Bavester, Olson/Hornsby lost 7&6 v Ward/Rudge, Gray/Double won 4&2 v Davis/Brown. Singles - P Clark 3&2 v Vince, B Clark 4&3 v D Whiting, G Smith v 5&3 Fish, Phillips v 6&5 Warwick, Golding v 6&5 Scott, Last 2&1 v Houchen, Warnes 2&1 v Ward, Tyrell v 2 up Rudge, Olson v 1 up Ashcroft, Hornsby 3&2 v Davis, Gray 6&5 v Bavester, Double 2&1 v Brown.

■ The build-up to this coming weekend's Tolly Cobbold quarter-final match away at Flemspton was enhanced by Sunday's President's Putter result as two of the squad members captured top three places in this major club event.
